Dura Dowel Access Mats

Eco Friendly

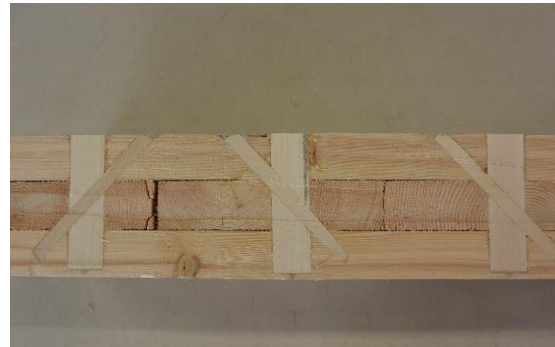

Leaving behind no debris

- Totally Recyclable
- Clean top and bottom
- No bolt heads to snag when cleaning and scraping the mat.
- Made with no metals.

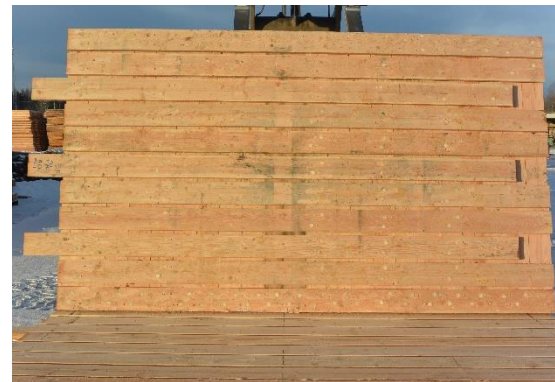

Our fully patented cross doweled access mats have undergone hours of rigorous testing. Stressing the mats beyond what the average mat goes through in real life, on the job situations. We tested them alongside the standard bolted mats, until both the bolted and doweled mats failed in their cores. The boards were cracking and breaking up, but the cross dowels held.

Through the durability testing we learned valuable information on how we could make our mats even more durable. We have applied this knowledge to bolted and doweled mats alike, giving our clients the best product possible.

Clips of the hours of testing can be viewed on our website at www.Rigmats.ca & www.Duzcho.com

Dura Dowel Access Mats

Recycling made Easy

- May be recycled as
 - Animal bedding
 - Hog fuel
 - Oilfield down hole
 - Landscape mulch
 - Wood stove fuel
 - And much more

When it comes time for disposal, our doweled mats are made with-out metal. This gives the owner the option of burning or shredding them on-site, saving you the shipping and handling costs.

This mat may be turned into charcoal and either sold or put back into the soil, sequestering carbon for up to 1000 years, significantly reducing the carbon footprint.

At Lone Pine Forest Products, we're proud to say we honour and stand up to our Duz Cho Construction L.P. Motto:

“Making sure the footprints we leave behind are ones our children will be proud to walk in.”
